Our Story

Our paths originally crossed more than a decade ago while attending college. We were friends for a couple years before Daniel's persistence of asking Jamie out finally paid off! We started dating in 2014, engaged in 2015, and married in 2016. Both of us were raised in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, where we lived until 2019, when we relocated to the Ann Arbor area. We enjoy exploring the parks in the area, camping, biking, trying out the local restaurants, visiting the Detroit Zoo, and of course, cheering on the Michigan Wolverines (and all the Detroit teams!)

What Brought Us to Adoption

Before we were even married, we talked about our openness to adoption someday. We have always hoped it would be a part of building our family together, it was just a matter of when. We hold true to the values and morals of the Catholic faith. So, once we found out we would need extensive fertility treatments to conceive, we knew God was calling us to begin our adoption journey.

Our Hopes, Open Adoption & Relationship with Birth Family

We fully understand the positivity of an open adoption. It is a desire for us to establish and maintain communication with you so that your child will always know where he/she came from, and your courage to give them life. We are willing to be flexible on your needs and wants for the level of openness.
